Vertically rising smoke trails of a grey-white color were observed at irregular intervals about 30 km east of Stalingrad (44°37'E/48°47'N). On some days 3 or 4 such smoke trails were seen. *

* Comment. Similar observations as described in this report were made in the area southeast of Stalingrad during the same period. The launching of 3 or 4 rockets on a single day seems to be improbable.
